How can we be the Church God is calling us to be?

Has this pandemic brought about a shift in your core identity? Gaining insight into this reality will be foundational as you dream new dreams for your congregation.

Listen to your community to understand their needs and what opportunities are now being offered to the church. A clear sense of this new reality will drive the “how” and “what” of our congregations.

Take time to discern ways of serving the community to meet their needs, while at the same time allowing interaction to create spaces of transformation in this new digital reality
